RE: Cost Modeling Practitioner Survey and Time Use Study

As part of our cost modeling efforts, Afton Partners are conducting an Early Intervention Practitioner Survey and a Time Use Study. These efforts will help the Bureau understand the true cost of providing EI services and inform system improvements that will benefit families and the workforce. All early interventionists are invited to participate.

The EI Practitioners Cost Survey is open to anyone who works in early intervention, especially independent contractors, agency managers, and CFC managers. The survey is open now and will close on February 26th. Click here to take the survey!

The Time Use Study is intended for direct service providers and interpreters. This study will help us understand the time that goes into delivering early intervention services, including time spent on preparation, travel, canceled appointments, and documentation. Time study participants are eligible for a $50 stipend and 3 continuing education credits through the Early Intervention Training Program. Use this link to indicate your interest in participating and to register for the required training.

If you require assistance, please consult the FAQs or use the Help Request Form.
